

The New

Indian Express

Firm to train IIM students

Bhubaneswar, Feb. 17: City-based networking company Nettech will train students of IIM, Kolkata. It will conduct a training programme on Networking Management (Linux and Windows environment) for them in July in association with XIM, here and XLRI, Jamshedpur.

Students from Orissa, Jharkhand, West Bengal, Bihar, Madhya Pradesh and Chhattisgarh will also participate. The objective is to increase the base of technical knowledge on Linux and Linux-based solutions among the technical minds, said manager of Nettech Swapan Purkait. •ENS